RESULT IN THIS COUNTY!

Fusion Ticket Sweeps Centre County By Large Majority.

GARDNER, D., ELECTED PROTHONOT'Y

McKinley Made a Good Run and Had Party Harmony Prevailed Would Have Been Elected.

REMARKABLY LIGHT VOTE POLLED

The election in Centre county Tuesday was one of the quietest in years. Everything passed off smoothly and the result is that the Fusion ticket has carried the county by a big majority, anywhere from twelve to fifteen hundred. The stay at-home voter was much in evidence and the Republican ticket was the principal sufferer thereby.

County Chairman Wilbur F. Reeder of the Republican party estimates that the Fusion ticket has carried the county by a majority of 1180, though these figures may be greatly increased when the full returns come in.

E. C. McKinley, the Republican candidate for Prothonotary, made an excellent run and had not John Hamilton made his unfortunate break at the last county convention, thereby knocking harmony into a cocked hat, he would undoubtedly have been elected.

As it is, M. I. Gardner, Democrat is re-elected by a majority of about 500. N. B. Spangler, Democrat, is re-elected District Attorney without opposition, having received a nice complimentary vote from Republicans. Indications are that the Constitutional amendments have carried the county.

LATER—Gardner has a majority of 411 over McKinley for Prothonotary, John C. Miller county chairman of the Union party, estimates the Union party vote in Centre county at 800.

RESULT OF ELECTION !

Incomplete Returns Indicate Victory for Republican State Ticket.

FUSIONISTS ADMIT DEFEAT

Seth Low Chosen Mayor of New York City—Tammany Receives a Waterloo.

RETURNS SLOW COMING IN

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. 6— a. m.—The defeat of Coray and Yerkes in the state as well as in Philadelphia, is practically admitted by the party managers at this hour. The heavy gains made throughout the state by these candidates have been overcome by the machine majorities in Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

There was comparatively little cutting of Potter in this city. An examination of the returns from twenty wards showed that he did not run 100 votes behind Harris in any one ward and in several his vote exceeded that of his colleague on the ticket.

The vote in the state on the constitutional amendments was light, but it seems probable they have carried.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 6.—Seth Low, former president of Columbia University and four years ago the Citizens' Union candidate for the first Mayor of Greater New York, was elected yesterday the second Mayor of Greater New York by a plurality ranging anywhere from 30,000 to 40,000, defeating Edward M. Shepard, of Brooklyn, the Democratic nominee. The campaign was an exciting one and the vote, though somewhat less than the Presidential election a year ago, was the largest ever polled in a municipal contest in this country.

In addition to the canvass for Mayor, public interest largely centered in the nomination by the fusionists of William Travers Jerome for District Attorney and Mayor Robert A. Van Wyck by the Democrats for Justice of the Supreme court, were voted for only in the territory contained in New York county. Returns received up to 11 p. m., indicate that Jerome had been elected by a comfortable plurality and that Mayor Van Wyck had been defeated, the latter running behind his ticket from 15,000 to 20,000.

FUSION TICKET ELECTED.

Returns also indicate the complete triumph of the Greater New York fusion ticket, Charles Vincent Fornes, the nominee of the Citizens' Union and the Republicans for president of the Board of Aldermen defeating George M. Van Hoesen, the Democratic nominee.

E. M. Grout, for the past four years Democratic president of the borough of Brooklyn, the fusionist nominee for Comptroller, also defeated W. W. Ladd, Jr., Democrat.

In the borough of Manhattan and the Bronx, with only 26 election districts to hear from, Low has 140,748 votes and Shepard 135,094. At that rate Low will carry the borough by about 6,500.

In the borough of Brooklyn, 500 election districts out of 526 give Low 105,957 and Shepard 84,276. Low's majority in the borough will be about 23,000.

Queen's county complete gives Low 8,971 and Shepard 9,478. These estimates will give Low a plurality in Greater New York of 35,000.

Jerome's plurality is now estimated at about 5,000. Van Wyck is defeated beyond all doubt, probably by 20,000 votes. The whole of the fusion ticket is probably elected.

NEW JERSEY'S GOOD SHOWING.

NEWARK, N. J., November 6.—According to returns up to 12:30 a. m. the republicans carried this state, electing Murphy governor by at least 8,000 over Seymore, democrat. Murphy's majority may go several thousand higher and his friends are claiming from 10,000 to 13,000.

The republicans elect strong majorities in both houses of the legislature. The greatest surprise of the day was in Warren county, which elected a republican to the assembly, something which never occurred before.

OHIO

COLUMBUS, November 5.—Returns up to 10 o'clock indicate Republican gains in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo, Dayton, Zanesville, Portsmouth, Canton, Springfield and other cities, the notable exception being Columbus, the home of both Governor Nash and Colonel James Kilbourne, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

The greatest Republican gains are outside of the large cities, Some of the Democratic counties report the largest Republican gains. A notable exception in the rural districts was found in Pike and Adams counties, which jointly elected a Democratic member of the Legislature for the first time in eight years.

At 10 o'clock the Democratic State committee had no claims to make on the State ticket or the Legislature. Colonel Kilbourne said he felt better over carrying his home, Franklin county, with a Democratic gain of over 3,000, than if he had been elected Governor without carrying Franklin county. Chairman Dick at 10 o'clock gave a statement that the Republicans had carried the State by over 50,000 with a decisive majority in each branch of the Legislature.

The greatest Republican demonstration here to-night was over the returns from Toledo showing that Nash had carried Lucas county and that the legislative ticket there is elected. As Governor Nash had opposed the State appropriation for the proposed Ohio centennial exposition in that city. It was expected that he would lose that county. When this dispatch was received after Chairman Dick had made his statement the Republicans raised their estimates several thousand.

Senator Foraker claims the re-election of Governor Nash by 60,000 plurality, with both houses of the Legislature safely Republican. Hamilton county is said to be Republican by more than 10,000.

Fifty-three precinct out of 136 in Lucas county give Nash 4,641, Kilbourne 4,365

Clark county will go Republican by probably 100

One-third of Montgomery county, including one-half of the Soldiers' Home, give Nash about 1,700 plurality.

Steubenville, complete, gives Nash 1,599, Kilbourne 580.

One hundred and fifty-two precincts in Cincinnati give Nash 22,634, Kilbourne 20,615. The entire Republican ticket is elected by from 3,000 to 5,000 plurality. Hays, negro, Republican candidate for Representative, gets the smallest vote.

Hancock county went Republican by 400 majority.

Seventeen precincts of Finlay give Nash 2,772, Kilbourne 2,139. The rest of the ticket runs close to these figures.

The vote in Springfield was Nash, 3,904; Kilbourne, 3,091.

Twenty-nine precincts in Cleveland on of 200 give Nash 2,559, Kilbourne 3,916.

Returns indicate Democratic loss in Richmond county of at least 200. Kilbourne carried the county by between 500 and 600.

Former Bellefonte Pastor was Near Death.

Rev. Dr. D. S. Monroe, pastor of the First Methodist church at Shamokin and at one time the pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist church, met with an accident at Sunbury Monday morning that might have cost him his life but fortunately resulted in slight injuries.

While the Lewistown passenger train was coming into the Sunbury P. R. R. station Dr. Monroe was noticed coming out Arch street toward the station at a brisk walk and when he arrived at the station he hurried to the ticket window and secured a ticket, reaching the platform just as the train was leaving for the upper yard, at which place it remains until the afternoon trip, when it returns to Lewistown.

The minister thinking that it was the train he should take made a dash for it and succeeded in climbing aboard the rear platform of the last car. Upon entering the car he noticed that there were no passengers aboard and realized at once that he was on the wrong train. By this time the train had reached the upper end of the platform and was increasing its speed every second and when Mr. Monroe returned to the platform to leave the train he hesitated for a minute and then swinging loose alighted backward on both feet and was immediately thrown head-first to the platform, rolling quite a distance before he was assisted to his feet. That there is such a thing as luck in accidents was shown in this case by the fact that the preacher when he fell rolled directly on the track and had he been anywhere else but on the rear platform or had a train been following close he would have met a most horrible death.

At the time of the occurrence the station was crowded with people and the affair caused a great deal of excitement. Although suffering from his bruises and the shock sustained the minister was able to proceed on his journey.

—The State Christian Endeavor Committee at a meeting held in Harrisburg Tuesday elected Rev. W. N. Yates, of Philadelphia, president of the State Society to succeed Rev. M. J. Kline, of Baltimore, formerly of Harrisburg, resigned. The next State Convention of the society will be held in Pittsburg in July 1902,

ENVELOPED IN FOG.

Misty Times in London and Other Big British Isles.

WORST OF ITS KIND FOR YEARS

In the Metropolis Scenes of Confusion Were Common—Wagons and Vans Were Wrecked and the Thieves Made a Harvest.

EVEN MOUNTED POLICE GOT LOST

LONDON, November 5.—A fog such as Great Britain has not experienced for years enveloped London and half of the United Kingdom, blockading shipping, endangering railways and throwing business in London, Birmingham and other provincial cities into confusion Monday

So dense was it that a walk into the streets was an adventure. The fog descended upon the metropolis and the suburbs so thickly that between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon the principal avenues of traffic resembled the steam room of a Turkish bath.

Hundreds of thousands of London's suburban population vainly endeavored to groupe their way to the railway stations. The few who succeeded found the train all stalled.

Around Trafalgar Square and the houses of parliament scenes unparalleled for years were witnessed. Hundreds of omnibuses, cabs, carts and wagons formed an inextricable and immovable mass. The mounted police, in trying to clear away the jam, got lost themselves. Many vehicles were in collision. The drivers, not knowing where they were, stood at the heads of their horses patiently awaiting the lifting of the premature darkness.

Lanterns were at a premium, newsboys transferred their papers into temporary torches, highwaymen pursued their vocation, casualties were frequent and even hardened Londoners freely expressed a dread of the continuation of such fogs as Monday reached a climax.

If the fog had not lifted somewhat toward night London would have been so congested that its housing resources, commodious as they are, would have been taxed beyond their limits by the forced accommodation of the fog-bound suburbanites.

Among children and old people the deleterious effects of such a continuous and exceptional fog can scarcely be estimated.

Death Came to an Old Soldier Very Suddenly.

Joseph Linn, a well known resident of Beech Creek, died suddenly in that place Sunday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock. He came down staire, and not feeling very well, Dr. Tibbens was sent for. He expired shortly after. He was 66 years old and is survived by his wife and the following named children: William, George, Edward, Josephine, Mary, Laura and Mrs. Martha Hoffman.

Mr. Linn served enlistments in the 137th, 11th and 207th Pa. Vols. He was a fifer and a drum major. After the war he organized the Linn drum corps, which corps attended many political gatherings in Centre and Clinton counties. Mr. Linn was highly regarded by all who knew him and came of a family whose name has been closely identified with Beech Creek for many years.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the M. E. church. The services were conducted by Rev. L. F. Brown. Interment at Eagleville.

A Veteran Hunter.

The Selinsgrove Times says: George Burns, Sen., of this place is the champion hunter of the season. Mr. Burns is eighty-eight years of age, but is hale and hearty. His eyesight he says is as good as it was when he was twenty. Several days ago he went to Union county on a hunting expedition and returned with two wild turkeys and eight grey squirrels, which he got with an old-time rifle.

Horribly Burned by Molten Lead.

Friday while Ross Springman was assisting to lift a ladle of molten metal at the Williamsport Valley works, he slipped and fell. His fall caused the ladle to tip and the molten metal ran over his legs, arms and a portion of his body, inflicting frightful injuries. The flesh of one leg was roasted to the bone.

—Nothing makes a man feel cheaper than to take out his handkerchief to wipe off the perspiration and to discover that he got his wife's little bit of a lace trimmed handkerchief.

Y. M. C. A. OPENING.

Held on Friday and Was Largely Attended,

The Young Men's Christian Association of Bellefonte has taken upon itself a new lease of life with abundant promise for a bright and successful future.

Under the direction of the new General Secretary, Frank H. Gamel, great changes and marked improvements have been made in the Y. M. C. A. building during the past three months. The change has been so great that you would hardly know the place Papered and painted throughout it looks very tidy and inviting. The exterior has also been touched up and put in fine shape.

On the first floor is a light and inviting reading room, office and music room. Back of these are bath rooms fixed up with all the latest conveniences. In the rear of the building is a tennis court, one of the finest in the town.

On the second floor are the General Secretary's private office, the hall for holding meetings, one of the coolest parlors you ever saw and last but not least a room all fitted up for a camera club.

Friday was their re-opening day and from 9 a. m. until 10 p. m. people kept coming and going. From 2:30 until 10 p. m. music and light refreshments were served. Everyone was delighted with what they saw and all expressed themselves in the highest terms of praise for General Secretary Frank H. Gamel and the work he has already accomplished. He is certainly the right man in the right place. In speaking of him the "Association News" says :

"Mr. F. H. Gamel, formerly General Secretary in our State at Washington and Lebanon, and later at Pueblo, Colorado, has accepted the call to the Bellefonte Association. Mr. Gamel went there temporarily in order to put the work upon a better basis and succeeded so admirably in infusing new life into it by securing financial support and enlarging the membership and remodeling their quarters that the Board insisted that he should remain as their secretary. Every Association man will rejoice to see a vigorous work carried on in the Association which gave to our brotherhood the services of Gilbert and Hugh Beaver, and which has been in existence since the early days of our movement."

The reception was a highly successful affair throughout. The committees were as follows :

—It is not infrequently the case that a father, not having a son, put his daughter to doing a boy's or a man's work. Over at Big Run there is a man who has his daughter driving a coal wagon. She delivers the coal around the town and unloads it into the different coal houses of the place, doing the work that a strong man should do. This may be a saving for the father, but the young lady should raise emphatic objections.

COATS AND MONEY STOLEN

Rev. Kerchner and Dr. Hosterman Relieved of Clothing and Money by Sneak Thief

Rev. G. W. Kershner and Dr. G. W. Hosterman both of Centre Hall, while attending the Synod of the Reformed church in Philadelphia, had an experience with a sneak thief, who was successful in relieving Rev. Kershner of a new dress coat and overcoat and thirty-six dollars in good money, and Dr. Hosterman of an overcoat. The gentlemen stopped at a private boarding house and on retiring at night hung their overcoats and dress coats in a wardrobe, flung their vests and pantaloons over a chair, rolled into bed and took it for granted that Philadelphians wanted their own only.

The night was spent in peaceful slumber, and upon arising in the morning the surroundings betrayed none of the Knight's night doings, until the wardrobe was opened and it was found the coats were missing. The thief was exceedingly timid, for at the bedside of each of the sleepers hung a vest in which was a gold watch and chain and in Dr. Hosterman's vest forty dollars in "promises to pay." None of these articles were disturbed.

Rev. Kershner had banked his cash in his inside coat pocket, and the thief no doubt was surprised to find cash there. It is evident the thief was after clothing, for had he been in search of money he no doubt would have gone to the pantaloons or vests, at least he would not have refused the gold watches and chains.

Entrance to the room was in no wise barred, except to turn the door knob, for on retiring it was discovered that the door was without a key. The misplaced confidence in the house led the occupants to make no demands for this precaution.

Detectives were informed of the situation and suspicion placed on one of the inmates of the house, but the suspicion is purely suspicion without a scintilla of evidence.

Bad enough, but they might have fared worse.—Centre Reporter.

A Survivor of the Old Guard.

The sole surviving officer of the Old Guard of the First Napoleon is said to be living at Warsaw in poverty. He is a Pole named Marklewicz, and is now 107 years old. He receives a small pension from the Russian government, but it is contended that as he has the military cross of the Legion of Honor, he is entitled to an allowance from the third republic.

Marklewicz was decorated for distinguished conduct on the battlefield 88 years since, when he was only a lad of 19. The decree is dated No. 28, 1813. Marklewicz is thus not only the sole survivor of the officers of the Old Guard, but he is doyen, or senior member, of the Legion of Honor. He has, however, been enabled to live in three centuries, and according to all accounts, is still alert, in spite of age and poverty.—Tablet.

A Physician Testifies.

"I have taken Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have never used anything in my life that did me the good that did," says County Physician George W. Scroggs, of Hall county, Ga. "Being a physician I have prescribed it and found it to give the best results." If the food you eat remains undigested in your stomach it decays there and poisons the system. You can prevent this by dieting but that means starvation. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. You need suffer from neither dyspepsia nor starvation. The worst cases quickly cured. Never fails. C. M. Parrish.

Indian Summer Days.

These, certainly, are the real days of Indian summer. Those that came before were only imitations. Not until now has there been the proper haze, softening the glare of the autumn sun as its slanting rays pierce the many colored leaves and gilt the hill tops it its rising and setting. Just why it is known as Indian summer—well that's another question. Perhaps it is because the primitive Indian—for he is reputed to have been a lazy fellow, delayed the work that belonged to the summer season until the very last weather that was fit for it.

Twenty Years of Vile Catarrh.

Chas. O. Brown, journalist, of Duluth, Minn., writes: "I have been a sufferer from throat and nasal catarrh for over 20 years, during which time my head has been stopped up and my condition truly miserable. Within 15 minutes after using Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder I obtained relief. Three bottles have almost, if not entirely, cured me." 50c.—37

STORMS AND SIGNS.

Cole's Predictions for the Month of November.

November will prove a peculiar month. The "live" rays of the sun coming in contact with the pent up, or dead rays, will cause strange phenomena, sun dogs, and a strange appearing hazy atmosphere. We may also look for several beautiful meteoric displays this month. While some sections are enjoying sunshine and summer-like weather, others sections will have rain, hail, snow, slush and high winds, etc. The regular and local disturbance periods are all marked on our Storms and Signs calendar. Price 10 cents. The greatest danger from regular storm periods during the month will be between the 2nd and 8th, 16th and 21st, and during the last few days of the month, and from reactionary storm periods from the 10th to the 14th, 22nd to the 27th. Let sailors on the ocean and great lakes take warning; all people living along the sea coast should also watch out. Forest and prairie fires will do great damage. Earthquakes will be liable to occur both in the old country and United States. Watch out for an epidemic that will sweep the country, attacking the head, throat, lungs or bowels of man and beast. The germ will be a cross between the la-grippe and the fever germ.

MEMORY'S PRANKS.

Why Do We Remember Certain Things and Forget Others?

The vagaries of memory are some of the most interesting of those connected with the human mind and body. Why do we forget certain things and remember others? Myriads of these irregularities are as yet unaccounted for. Perhaps not even the cleverest metaphysician will ever account for them.

Professor James reminds us how something which we have tried in vain to recall will afterward, when we have given up the attempt, "saunter into the mind," as Emerson says, as innocently as if it had never been summoned.

Again, bygone experiences will revive after years of oblivion, often as the result of some cerebral disease or accident.

Such a case is the one quoted by Coleridge of a young woman in Germany who could neither read nor write, but who was said to be possessed of a devil because, in a fever, she was heard raving in Latin, Greek and in an obscure rabbinical dialect of Hebrew. Whole pages of her talk were written down and were found to consist of sentences intelligible in themselves, but not having the slightest connection with one another. To say that she was possessed of a devil was the easiest way of accounting for the matter.

At last the mystery was cleared up by a physician, who traced back the girl's history until he learned that at the age of nine she was taken to live at the house of an old pastor, a great Hebrew scholar, and that she remained there until the pastor's death. It had been for years the old man's custom to walk up and down a passage near the kitchen and read to himself in a loud voice.

His books were examined, and among them many of the passages taken down at the young woman's bedside were identified. The theory of demoniacal possession was abandoned.—Youth's Companion.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Mix stove blacking with a little ammonia to prevent it burning off.

A teakettle should never be allowed to stand on the side of the fire with a small quantity of water in it.

A rose potpourri is made by packing fresh rose petals in salt, a layer of the petals, then a layer of salt, and keeping them covered for six months.

A convenient substitute for a corkscrew when the latter is not at hand may be found in the use of a common screw with an attached string to pull the cork.

For ink stains on furniture add six drops of niter to a teaspoonful of water and apply it to the stain with a feather. If the stain does not yield to the first application, make it stronger and repeat the process.

Stains on silverware require prompt attention, otherwise it will take a long time to remove them. Sulphuric acid will remove the stain left by medicine. Dip the spoon in the acid, repeating the process until the stain has disappeared; then wash in very hot water.

Diluting Tea.

Few housekeepers remember, as they should, that when it is necessary to dilute strong tea it should be done with water at the boiling point. The poor flavor of tea, made strong at first and then reduced, such as is too often served at receptions and "at homes," is usually caused by the addition of hot, not boiling, water to the first infusion. A lesson in this matter may be had from the Russians, who serve the most delicious tea in the world, and who prepare it first very strong, making it almost an essence of tea. This is diluted to the strength wished, with water kept boiling in the samovar. This water is not allowed to boil and reboil, but is renewed as needed. Freshly boiled water is insisted upon by all connoisseurs in teamaking.

Ceilings and Ventilation.

Rooms with low ceilings or with ceilings even with the window tops are susceptible of more perfect ventilation than those with high ceilings. In such rooms the leakage at the windows, which is constantly going on, keeps the air in motion throughout the room, whereas if the ceiling is higher only the lower part of the air is moved, and an inverted lake of foul and hot air is left floating in the space above the window tops. This lake, under the law of diffusion of gases, keeps actively at work, fouling the fresh currents circulating beneath it.

Longevity of Irish Peasants.

It is curious to notice the great number of centenarians whose deaths are recorded in the official returns of Irish rural districts. As an instance of the longevity of the Irish peasant it may be pointed out that the death of persons upward of sixty years of age registered in Connaught last year amounted to over 50 per cent of the entire deaths of the province.

A Man to the Rescue!

The Woman in Peril Rarely Finds Help From Her Own Sex.

It is in no wise to a woman's discredit that she is not a professional life-saver. We can only fancy her in the fireman's helmet, in the crew of the life-boat, or wielding a policeman's club, at the loss of some of that fineness which is the distinguishing quality of her sex. The Molly Pitchers and Grace Darlings are only examples of the sublime self-forgetfulness of women in great emergencies.

It's much the same in other ways. Women turn to the strength, skill and judgment of men in the crises of life.

One of the most common statements made in the letters grateful women write to Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., is this: "I owe my life to Dr. Pierce." These women have found themselves in great danger. They have appealed without avail to local physicians. They have counseled in vain with women advisers. The best that had been done for them was just to keep them afloat in the sea of disease with strength visibly failing, in the hope that the man who had strength and skill to save them might be found.

WOMAN'S APPEAL ANSWERED.

Hundreds of thousands of women have appealed to Dr. Pierce, for relief from womanly ills and not one has appealed in vain. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription supplemented by the medical advice of Dr. Pierce has been the means of cure to this vast army of women suffering from diseases peculiar to the sex.

"I wish to tell you the benefit I received from using your remedies," writes Mrs. Alice Soncrant, of 261 W. Harrison Street, Chicago, Ills. "Two years ago I was taken with a severe pain in the left ovary and side. Tried several different remedies, but nothing helped me. I got so bad I could scarcely walk across the floor or do work of any kind. One day an old neighbor lady came in to see me, and told me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She said she knew it would help me, as it had saved her life. When the doctors had given her up and said they could do nothing for her she said she began to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it cured her. So I got a bottle of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and began taking them. Before I had taken one bottle of each I was so much better I could do all my own work, and that is a good deal, as I am the mother of four small children. Three bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me. I have not been sick since then. I think your 'Favorite Prescription' is a wonderful medicine for women."

Such cures as that of Mrs. Soncrant are many, and they speak for the power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription better than the most eloquent words of praise. The test of a medicine is, what has it done for women? By that test "Favorite Prescription" invites woman's verdict. On the testimony of trustworthy women, "Favorite Prescription" has saved life where physicians had given up all hope. It has cured the most stubborn and obstinate forms of womanly disease. It has banished pain, restored the appetite, induced refreshing sleep, given color to the cheeks and roundness to the form.

WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

There are few women for whom no perfect cure is possible. The number of such women has been reduced to a minimum by the practical experience of Dr. Pierce. Of the hundreds of thousands of women who have appealed to Dr. Pierce for counsel in connection with his "Favorite Prescription," only two in every hundred have failed of a perfect and permanent cure. But even this two per cent. of incurables have gratefully recorded a great improvement in their condition; relief from pain and a restoration to family enjoyments.

No sick woman should be discouraged by her condition, no matter how long standing her ailment may be, or how utterly all other means and medicines have failed to cure. The greater number of cures effected by "Favorite Prescription" are cures of chronic and complicated diseases which have baffled the skill of local physicians and proved intractable to all other treatment.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries disagreeable and weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It is the greatest preparative for maternity, giving womanly health and strength and making baby's advent practically painless.

A GREAT FREE OFFER.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held in sacred confidence, and womanly confidences are guarded by strict professional privacy. Address Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no similar offer of free consultation by letter or free medical advice, which has behind it an institution such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., to which for over thirty years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician, assisted by a medical staff of nearly a score of specialists in the treatment and cure of womanly diseases.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. It is purely a vegetable preparation and cannot disagree with the weakest constitution.

Some dealers for the sake of the little more profit paid by inferior preparations, will try and sell the customer a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" as being "just as good." "Just as good" medicines do not have the cures to their credit which make women hail "Favorite Prescription" as a "Godsend to women." Don't barter the substance for the shadow.

The New Eldorado.

The greatest gold rush in history is predicted in the Philippine islands, the new Eldorado. Army officers who have recently returned from Mindanao declare that the mineral riches of that island will soon be one of the wonders of the world. They say the valleys of the river Sita and its tributaries, with a total length of 200 or 300 miles, are full of gold. The natives go out with their rude washing implements and clean up from 50 cents to $3 worth of gold in a day. Returning army officers bring back specimens of the gold, and report that, according to the natives, the precious mineral is found all through the valleys, which range from five to twenty miles in width. No American miners have as yet gone into the region, as the Taft government is debarred from issuing permits or franchises. As soon as Congress takes off the ban of the Hoar amendment to the Spooner resolution and gives the government authority to established mining laws and arrange titles for claims. It is predicted by army officers that there will be a tremendous influx of miners from the United States, South America, Alaska, and from all over the world. The Sita debouches into the sea in the important province of Cagayan, and there is a good port at the mouth of the river called Tagalban. All that part of Mindanao is a rich country, luxuriant with fruit, vegetables, maize and poultry. Chickens and pigs run wild in the woods, and bacon and eggs are almost as cheap as dirt. Although Mindanao lies well down to the equator, the climate is healthful. The days are hot, but the nights are always cool. Army officers who have been all through the Philippines say the American people have no conception of the richness of the archipelago, and of the great future which lies before it,

BRITISH LOST HEAVILY.

Lord Kitchener Reports a Disaster to Benson's Column

BOERS MADE A DETERMINED ATTACK

English Loss Was Several Officers and Fifty-four Men Killed, and Several Officers and 160 Men Wounded.

TWO GUNS WERE ALSO TAKEN

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Lord Kitchener has reported to the war office a disaster to the British near Bethel, Eastern Transvaal, in which two guns were lost, several officers killed or wounded and fifty-four men killed and 160 wounded.

The following is the text of Lord Kitchener's dispatch, dated Pretoria, November 1:

"I have just heard of an attack made on the rear guard of Colonel Benson's column when about twenty miles northwest of Bethel, near Boken Laagte, during a thick mist.

"The strength of the enemy is reported to have been a thousand. They rushed two guns with the rear guard, but it is uncertain whether they were able to remove them.

"I fear our casualties were heavy. Colonel Benson was wounded, but not severely. A relieving column will reach him this morning."

Later Lord Kitchener telegraphed as follows:

"Colonel Barker, who marched from the constabulary line yesterday, reached Benson's column early this morning (Friday) unopposed. He reports that Colonel Benson died of his wounds.

"The other casualties are the following: Killed—Colonel D. Guinness, Major F. D. Furay, Captains M. W. Lindsay and F. T. Thorold, Lieutenants E. V. I. Brooks and R. E. Sheppard and Second Lieutenant A. J. Corlett. Died of his wounds, Captain Eyre Lloyd."

Lord Kitchener then gives the names of thirteen other officers who were wounded, most of them severely, and announces that fifty-four non-commissioned officers and men were killed and 160 wounded, adding that four of the latter have since died of their wounds. The dispatch then says:

"I assume that the two guns have been recovered and that the enemy has withdrawn, but I have no further details.

"I deeply regret the loss of Colonel Benson and the officers and men who fell with him. In Benson the service losses a most gallant and capable officers who invariably led his column with marked success and judgment.

"The fighting was at very close quarters and maintained with great determination by both sides. The enemy suffered heavily, but I have not yet received a reliable estimate. The Boers retired east."

Colonel Benson had been for some time operating in the vicinity of Bethel, which is northeast of Standerton. He surprised a Boer laager Oct. 22 near Trichardsfontein, taking thirty-seven prisoners. Three days later, according to Lord Kitchener's report at the time, after a long night march, the commandos under Crobelaar and Erasmus "heavily attacked Benson's rear guard and flanks at Yzirvardfontein, but were easily driven away."

Whether this was the attack which resulted so disastrously or whether the Boers who had been repulsed took advantage of the mist to renew the attack, is still unexplained. Lord Kitchener does not give the date of the Bethel engagement.

Priests of the Altoona Diocese Hold Their First Synod.

The first ecclesiastical synod of the new Altoona diocese was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. John's hall, and was attended by about fifty-two priests of the diocese.

Right Rev. Bishop Garvey presided, and was pleased with the large attendance of the priests from all parts of the diocese. He spoke in grateful terms of the welcome extended to him by the priests, upon the condition of religion in the diocese, the character of the episcopal office and the necessity of faithful co-operation on the part of the priests.

He also declared that for the present the statutes adopted for the Pittsburg diocese would continue in force in the new dioces of Altoona.

Of the six members of the bishop's council, who will assist in the management of the diocese by their advice, three were appointed by the bishop and three elected by the assembled priests. The three gentlemen appointed by the bishop are: Very Rev. John Boyle, of Johnstown; Rev. M. M. Sheedy and Rev. D. Zwickert, of Altoona. The three elected by the priests are: Rev. N. J. O'Reilly, Rev. T. P. Smith, of Altoona, and Rev. F. Kittell, of Loretto.

Bishop Garvey has not yet appointed his secretary, but announced Tuesday at the synod that he had appointed Rev. John C. Farran, of Cambria City, vicar forane of the diocese.

The bishop appointed this executive committe: Revs. N. J. O'Reilly, of Altoona; Nicholas Bouch and Vicar General J. Boyle, of Johnstown; J. S. Gormley, of Renovo, and J. M. Deasy, of Gallitzin.

He also appointed this committe of examiners: Revs Patrick McArdle, of Bellefonte; Emeran Singer, O. S. B., of Carrollton; T. P. Smith, of Altoona; Nicholas Bouch, of Johnstown, and F. Kittell, of Loretto.

Shooting Stars in November.

According to the conclusions of a writer in the Scientific American, November 15 will bring the notable meteoric display which the world beholds three times in a century. It was predicted for last year, on the theory that the meteor swarm made the circuit of its orbit in 33 years This, however, is an error, for closer calculation shows the period to be 34 years and one day; or more accurately, 12,419 days. The first recorded shower was witnessed on the nights of November 11-12 1799; the next on November 12-13, 1833; the third on November 12 14, 1867. The coming shower would seem to be due, therefore, on the night of November 14-15, 1901. This will be on Thureday night and the moon, new on the 11, will be a slender crescent, soon following the sun down behind the western hills.

Modern Surgery Surpassed.

"While suffering from a bad case of piles I consulted a physician who advised me to try a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve," says G. F. Carter, Atlanta, Ga. "I procured a box and was entirely cured. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a splendid cure for piles, giving relief instantly, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers." Surgery is unnecessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure any case. Cuts, burns, bruises and all other wounds are also quickly cured by it. Beware of counterfeits. C. M. Parrish.

Ex-Governor Hastings' Inability to Fill Campaign Engagements in Ohio Causes Deep Regret to Ohio Republicans.

Former Governor Hastings, who expected to make several speeches for the Republican ticket in Ohio this campaign, has been obliged to cancel his dates owing to a painful and annoying throat trouble. He is under the treatment of a Philadelphia specialist and it was in obedience to his advice that the ex-Governor abandoned his Ohio stumping tour. A staff correspondent of the Pittsburg Times in a review of the political situation in Ohio, published in Wednesday's Times says, speaking of the ex-Governor's inability to speak in Ohio: "To the great regret of the Republicans of Ohio, Governor Hastings dates have been canceled. Governor Hastings is very popular in Ohio, where he has spoken in many campaigns, and he is more-over, a warm friend of Gov. Nash and very anxious for his re-election. Ohio Republicans remember with pleasure Governor Hasting's magnificent speech nominating John Sherman for the Presidency at the Republican National convention at Chicago in 1888; and they have not forgotten his splendid services in campaigns when McKinley was a candidate for Congressman, Governor and President, their regret therefore that he is unable to be with them this time is deep and sincere."

Tussle With a Bear.

A correspondent from Jersey Shore states that Harry Martin, of Lock Haven, and several friends were hunting in the vicinity of Pine Station Wednesday. The dogs ran onto a bear and a desperate battle ensued during which three of the dogs were killed. By this time the hunters had come up with the bear and fired, but their guns being charged with shot bruin got away, apparently little the worse for his "scrap."

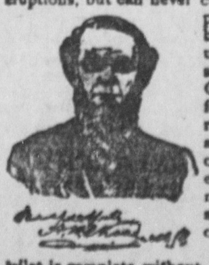
As a Food For the Skin.

To Make It Smooth, Healthy and Beautiful, Dr. Chase's Ointment is Hailed by Thousands of Fair Women.

Every woman, no matter how beautiful her skin, finds need at times of some preparation to overcome the redness and roughness, and to cure the pimples, blackheads and skin irritations.

Powders may cover up the disfiguring eruptions, but can never cure them, and are positively injurious because they clog up the pores of the skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed, and thoroughly cures each and every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and clear.



No woman's toilet is complete without Dr. Chase's Ointment, for besides being the most perfect skin beautifier obtainable it can be used in a score of different ways. It absolutely cures eczema, salt rheum and the itching to which women are especially subject.

When the feet are sore and chafed with walking an application of Dr. Chase's Ointment takes out the smarting and allays the inflammation in a surprisingly short time. Then for burns, scalds and every sort of chafing, irritation or eruption of the skin Dr. Chase's Ointment affords a safe and certain cure. To most people rice is rice, but, notwithstanding this, there is a considerable difference between the Chinese or Japanese and the American article. The former is darker in color and in no way compares with the latter in flavor or quality. Of the American, however, there are a number of grades, of which that grown in the Carolinas is considered the best. When purchasing, see that the grains are large, plump and unbroken. A Use For the Hyphen.

A teacher had just given a lesson on the hyphen, and thinking that his class understood it now, he wrote the word "birds-nest" on the blackboard. "Now, boys, why do we have a hyphen between birds and nest?" asked the teacher.

Several hands went up, and the teacher pointed to a small boy who seemed very anxious to answer. "For the birds to roost on," was the reply. —London Tit-Bits.

"Judge Love is the recognized leader of the Quay forces in Centre county."—John Hamilton to the Republican county convention, July 30, 1901.

THE estimated production of anthracite coal in the United States for 1901 is about 35,000,000 tons—the largest out put in the history of the trade. The demand for anthracite has greatly increased during the year.

THE creation of a department of commerce in the national government will open the way for one of railroads and one of mines and then there may be enough cabinet officers to meet the demands of political emergencies.

IT appears that a consignment of "Wheeling stogies," recently shipped to England was classified by the customs house officials as "leather manufactures" on the assumption that they were boots for bicycling.

IF, in event of a vacancy on the Superior Court bench, Governor Stone should appoint Judge Love to the position and name W. E. Gray, Esq., as Love's successor on the Centre county bench, the incident could be aptly cited as the killing of two birds with one Stone, as neither would have a ghost of a show for nomination at next year's State and county conventions.

A NUMBER of Cuban planters have already started an open movement in favor of the annexation of Cuba to the United States. The more conservative annexationists, however, maintain that the time is not ripe for the plan, nevertheless the desire for annexation is securing a firm hold on the Cuban mind and the alliance may not be so far in the future as is supposed in some quarters.

DR. George Edward Reed, President of Dickinson College, State Librarian, and a machine spellbinder in lieu thereof, in a political speech during the late campaign is reported to have said that those who accuse and arraign the State administration are "a set of infernal liars." The fact that the learned Doctor's opinions are subsidized by the machine at the rate of $2500 per annum must be considered as his excuse for the use of language, not only false as he well knows but worse still unbecoming a doctor of divinity and a minister of the gospel.

JOHN "OLEO" HAMILTON should secure the services of the "Former Centre County Boy" now residing in Philadelphia, who writes political essays for the College Times, to assist in the preparation of the remaining volumes of his report of the State Department of Agriculture for 1900. The "Former Centre county Boy" displays a remarkable talent for one of such presumably tender years. John should use him before age completely withers his fertile mental organs. The evidence of brain disorder is already discernible in the products of his pen.

—The REPUBLICAN and New York Weekly Tribune one year for $1.25.

THE RESULT.

It is evident from the returns of Tuesday election in Pennsylvania, incomplete as they are at the time we write, that Frank G. Harris and William P. Potter Republican candidates for State Treasurer and Supreme Court Justice, respectively, have been elected by majorities considerably reduced in comparison with the figures of two years ago when a State Treasurer was chosen. It was an off year election with a vengeance. Fusion failed to overthrow machine rule both in Philadelphia and in the State. It is not necessary to discuss the whys and wherefores at this time nor predict for the future. Sufficient unto the day is the necessity thereof.

Centre county did herself proud and nobly responded to the call for "Honest Government by Honest Officials" The result in the county justifies the declaration that Quayism in Old Centre is marked for defeat in every contest to come until the "ism" is no longer a factor in political contests.

HAMILTON'S INDUSTRY.

Secretary of Agriculture Hamilton has decided that the agricultural interests of Pennsylvania shall not be represented at the Charleston, S C., Exposition. He has his own precedent for doing nothing in the matter. When the farmers of the State urged the Agricultural Department to get up a display for the Buffalo Exposition, Secretary Hamilton discouraged them by saying that it would cost $5000. The project was abandoned because of his opposition, and the bulk of the legislative appropriation went into the grotesque affair that was designated as the Pennsylvania State Building at Buffalo.

Owing to the insistence of Representative Creasy provision was made in the bill creating the Pennsylvania Commission to the Charleston Exposition that $5000 out of the $35,000 appropriation should be used for the purpose of making a display of agricultural products from this State. But the answer of Secretary Hamilton—whose interest in agriculture seems to be limited to drawing his official salary=to the request that an exhibit be prepared is that it will cost $10,000. The official farmer is evidently not going to overwork himself. His distinguishing talent lies in the direction of inventing excuses for doing nothing. He makes an industry of uselessness and works overtime at the job.—North American.

A JUST BUT COSTLY DECISION.

A large number of northern states are greatly interested in a recent decision by the Court of Claims in favor of Pennsylvania, Maine and New Hampshire, awarding them the amount of their expenditures for interest and expenses in negotiating the loans they made at the beginning of the Civil war in order to raise and equip troops for the Government. The face of these loans had been already paid but not the interest on them nor the expense of raising them. The Court of Claims held some years ago that interest, etc., could not be paid, but the decision was reversed on appeal by the Supreme Court. Other claims presented after this decision were declared outlawed by lapse of time Counsel, however, claimed that the delay was wholly due to the Treasury Department which had refused to consider such claims. The Court now announces that it agrees with this contention. The amount which the decision will ultimately cost the government cannot be accurately told but it will be large. An appropriation to pay it will have to be made by Congress.

MERE NEWSPAPER TALK.

The seeming confusion in Republican ranks over the question of reciprocity treaties is nearly all to be found solely in the columns of the newspapers. Of course there are differences of opinion among prominent Republicans on this question, as there are bound to be whenever any question involving such enormous number of details affecting the pocket books of the people came up. The Democrats can perhaps afford to go ahead and disregard business interests in their desires to play to the gallery and rant about cheapness, but the Republicans cannot. The Republican National Convention pronounced in favor of reciprocity which should admit to this country articles not manufactured or raised here in return for cessions to us abroad, the pending reciprocity treaties all make reductions on articles that are produced at home. Naturally those who produce these articles object, and it is no answer to say that they are selfish and want the other fellows to do all the conceding. Of course, they do; that is human nature; no man consents to the ruin of his own business to help out another. Whether all their objections are warranted by the state of trade, whether the protection in some or all cases is too high; whether they are mistaken about the damage that its reduction would do them—all this is a matter of detail which will be thrashed out in the Senate Committee rooms this winter as it would have been last winter had the session not been so short and other legislation so important as to prevent.

JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRACY.

The flurry over the action of President Roosevelt in asking Dr. Booker T. Washington, the eminent colored educator, to dine with him at the White House, has brought out the fact that Thomas Jefferson, a Virginian of the Virginians, entertained a colored man at the White House, and went so far as to invite him to visit Monticello, Jefferson's Virginia home. This colored man was Benjamin Banneker, who was remarkable for his attainments in mathematics, especially in astronomy, besides being a linguist of note.

PROF. JOHNNY PAN OLEO HAMILTON says he will not reply to the Gazette editor's queries regarding his (Hamilton's) political regularity and the date and reason of his conversion to Quayism. Why? Because, says the Oleo oracle, he will not demean himself and his paper by a controversy with Harter whom he holds in contempt. This is Hamilton's reason. The true one is that he cannot, dare not deny Editor Harter's charges. He is all the Gazette implied: A political gymnast for revenue only; a hypocritical demagogue who is a reproach to respectable society; an ingrate whom good people scorn; a machine catspaw whom honest men despise.

THERE is an interesting story associated with Republican politics in Centre county of some years ago concerning a man, a campaign contribution and a law library, which we may recall some of these days while in a reminiscent mood.

THE EXPANSION OF RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

A recent statement made by the Superintendent of Free Delivery of the post-office department, that within five years every farmer would receive his mail by rural free delivery, just as city residents are now served, has attracted considerable attention and at the same time brought under observation the phenominal expansion of the system under the McKinley administration.

Since the first inauguration of Mr. McKinley the rural free mail system expanded from a few routes, costing altogether less than $10,000 per annum to 6,000 routes at a cost of $3,500,000 for the present year and it is estimated to reach 10,000 or 15,000 routes at an expenditure of $6,500,000 for the next fiscal year. When the service has been perfected it is expected to cover 1,000,000 square miles of territory and include over 100,000,000 routes.

The innovation was literally opposed by the Cleveland cabinet only five years ago, the Post-master-General at that time refusing even to test it with an appropriation made by Congress for the sole purpose of experiment. In consideration of this fact the growth of the system is nothing less than marvelous; for instance it more than doubled in the past year. Its enormous expansion, too, is coupled with an increase of receipts directly tracable to the facilities supplied by it, which show that it actually pays for itself and leaves a balance to be applied to the less profitable branches of the postal service.

At present the increase is by the county system. Where conditions, including roads, warrant, a whole county is changed from the fourth class office and star route method to the rural free delivery service, always to the satisfaction of the residents. Judging by the growth and the popularity of rural free delivery system, and the predictions of the Superintendent of the Free Delivery Bureau, Centre county will, within the next five years, witness the passing of her fourth-class post offices and the installation of rural free delivery.

Senator Cochran up Against Virginia Law.

An interesting story of the hunt comes from Richmond, Va., as follows: "Senator J. H. Cochran, of Williamsport, Pa., and a dozen of the officials of the Pennsylvania Central railroad, who were his guests at the Rose Gille estate, near Saluda, Middlesex county, were in a magistrate's court at Saluda Friday morning on the charge of violating the game laws. Squire Davis, the gentleman who held the reins of Justice, was somewhat abashed by the fact that more than $50,000,000 were represented in his court, and soon acquitted the magnates of killing birds out of season.

Senator Cochran is a member of the banking firm of Jackson, Hastings & Co, and is well known to the business men of Bellefonte.

IN A RUNAWAY BALLOON.

When Hope Seemed Lost a Land Breeze Struck the Craft and Wafted Her to Safety.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 4.—The nine occupants of the car of the captive balloon which escaped from this city Saturday afternoon landed safely Sunday. The balloon was landed near Pescadero, fifty miles from this city and but a short distance from the ocean. It was at one time setting out to sea, but was blown back to land. Those who made the involuntary trip were Ed P. Dudley, aeronaut; A. L. Dodge, Ed Foster, Jr., Walter Leon, C. P. Vildecoq, J. F. Leonard, M. L. Howarth, John A. M. Swift and Mrs. J. P. Gunsaulus.

When the balloon broke its bonds it sailed away in a southerly direction. South of Redwood City it struck another air current, which took it towards the ocean over the summit of the Coast Range. Nineteen miles from La Honda and about six miles from Pescadero lies Beatty Thomson's place. Thomson was up and out when the balloon came along by Wurr's Mill and the grappling hook slipped through the trees and raked along brushy patches of ground. By this time much of the gas had been let out of the balloon and the power was weak. The rope that held snapped and the captive became a runaway and was sweeping along the ground. When it came within Thomson's reach he grasped it and bore down with all his weight. This stopped the flight. Soon the balloon was brought to the ground and the eight passengers and the aeronaut alighted.

A. L. Dodge, one of the passengers, describing the trip said the balloon first started toward Oakland and after circling about for a time drifted southward and became stationary for a short time. Then, catching a breeze from the eastward, it sailed over the San Mateo hills and stood far out over the ocean and the occupants of the wicker cage faced the prospect of a plunge into the sea. Twice, according to Dodge's story, the balloon dipped close to the surface of the water, but rose again to a considerable altitude. Finally a breeze from the sea caught the balloon and carried it back over the land, and after dragging the cage through the trees landed it on a hillside six miles from Pescadero.

"It was a terrible experience," said Dodge, "and I would not undergo the same adventure again for any consideration. Everybody was more or less shaky, while the woman passenger and two or three men were so sick that they sat in the bottom of the basket throughout the trip."

Several other of the unwilling occupants of the balloon also spoke of their involuntary trip. They say that the experience was a most thrilling one and that they would not care to repeat it.

The balloon had been sent up several times on Saturday from Eleventh and Folsom streets, San Francisco. While descending on the fifth trip, about 500 feet from the ground, the rope broke fifty feet from the balloon. To the horror of the spectators the balloon rapidly shot up in the air to a height of 2,000 feet or more and floated away in a southerly direction. One of the passengers was a woman, Mrs. J. Dunsell.

An Old Cemetery.

The old cemetery at Dunnstown is one of the oldest burying grounds in the county. There is no record to show when it was first used as a burial place, but it must have been about the time first settlers came into this region. In recent years a large area of land has been laid out as a cemetery adjoining the original graveyard. A tombstone in the old portion of the Dunnstown cemetery bears the following inscription: "In Memory of William Baird, Who Departed This Life November 26, A. D. 1813, Aged 60 Years."

Potter County Excited Over an Elopement.

ULYSSES, Nov. 5.—Walter Arlington, aged 63 years, eloped from this place Saturday with a 13 year old girl named Ida Potter. The two went to Rochester, N. Y., where the girl represented herself to a justice of the peace as being 18 years old. They were married.

The mother of the girl threatens a suit for abduction, but the married couple say they will live together in spite of the objections of the mother.

Yankee Farmer Rivals Tolstoi.

Gilbert Sherer, of Goshen, N. Y., was 93 years old Sunday, and in accordance with his annual custom he worked from sunrise to sunset Saturday, and turned over nearly the whole of his garden spot. He has done this for 30 years, and is firmly of the belief that it insures his living through the year. He is very wealthy, but lives in the simplest possible way, and for years it has been his custom to spend at least $500 in Christmas gifts for the poor children of New York.

—A blind fortune teller who located in a Coudersport hotel in seven weeks received over two hundred dollars for revealing the future to credulous individuals.

—The postal money orders sold in the United States during the fiscal year reached a total of $300,000,000 in round numbers. This is an increase of almost $40,000,000 over the previous year.

Take Heed of the Law.

Within a few days trouble has come between several parties which may determine in a law suit over the fact that one man gave to the son of another man, under the age of 16 years, tobacco. This, according to an Act of Assembly, passed at the last session of the Legislature and signed by Gov. Stone, is absolutely against the law, and it would be well for storekeepers and others to read the annexed act carefully and govern their sales and gifts of tobaco to boys accordingly:

No. 323.

AN ACT

To prohibit the sale and furnishing of tobacco to persons under the age of 16 years.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, etc., that no person or persons shall sell tobacco, in any form, to any person under the age of 16 years.

SECTION 2. That no person or persons shall, by purchase, gift or other means, furnish tobacco, in any form, to a person under the age of 16 years.

SECTION 3. Any person violating the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or undergo confinement in the county jail for a period not exceeding 30 days, or both, as the court may determine.

Approved the 10th day of July, A. D. 1901. W. A. STONE.

Gored and Tramped to Death.

William, the 12 year old son of Stetzel Gardner, was gored to death by an angry bull at Opp, Lycoming county, last week. The little fellow had been sent to bring the cows home and not returning at the usual time his mother went to look for him.

As she came near the field she saw the furious animal toss a small object on his horns and then trample it under foot. Upon going closer she was horrified on finding the object to be the form of her son.

She succeded in driving the infuriated animal away and hastened to the aid of the child, but he was dead when she reached him. His head and face were crushed into an unrecognizable mass and the little body dreadfully mutilated. It is supposed the little fellow tried to separate the bull and a steer while fighting and the former turned on him, with the above sad result.

The West Branch Valley Road.

In the vicinity of Karthaus about 200 men are now at work putting the ballast on the railroad tracks between Karthaus and Keating. Sidings are also being put in at several places between those points. The road bed in places has been raised two feet.

The tracks are ballasted from Keating to Birch Island. Limestone is used from the Salona quarries. A crusher is being put in Salt Lick and stone from that section will be used. Long sidings are being put in every three miles between Karthaus and Clearfield indicating that the traffic over the new line when it is completed will be immense. It is stated that it will be several months yet until the tunnels on the line are completed.

Fortune Came With Quadruplets.

When quadruplets came into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby, of Chicago, two weeks ago, the father, despairing of making his little grocery store support them, ran away, and has not been seen since. Now the proud mother is the possessor of a moderate fortune from contributions, and will soon be wealthy. She announced to her visitors Saturday that she had made a contract whereby she is to receive $500 a week from a museum where the babies will be exhibited. She also announces that she is going to leave the little grocery store and live in a swell downtown hotel.

Methodist Bishops Confer.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—At last week's session of the Methodist bishops it was decided to hold the next semi-annual conference at Chattanooga, at which time closer relations and the final union of the churches north and south will be further considered.

Dr. James M. King, who was the first assistant of the late Dr. Spencer, at Atlanta, was elected corresponding secretary of the Church Extension society, with headquarters at Philadelphia. Dr. King's successor will not be named until next week.

Underwent an Operation.

Mrs. Abner McCloskey, of Beech Creek, underwent an operation at her home Saturday for cancer. Mrs. J. W. Bickel, of Manistee, Mich., her sister, has arrived at Beech Creek, and will remain to see the outcome of the operation. Mrs. McCloskey is 69 years old.

—A dangerous counterfeit of the $5 Indian head silver certificate has reached the treasury department. It is a photographed etched work, on a fair imitation of government paper, with the red and blue fibre lines marked with ink. The small lettering is poor, especially the words "register" and "treasurer" and the lathe work lines are broken in places. A strong distinguishing mark is a period after the script works "dollars" on the face; there is no punctuation in that place on a genuine note.

—John M. Ross, a well known and highly respected citizen of Bell township, Clearfield county, died very suddenly on Thursday morning.

Recovered from His Injuries.

Arthur Young, who had his jaw broken in several places by a fragment thrown from a wooden pulley in a saw mill at Huston, Nittany valley, early in September, has about recovered.

He spent three weeks in the hospital in Lock Haven. All the appliances to hold the jaw in place have been removed and the broken parts have united. Until a week ago his food had to be given him in liquid form through a tube. Now he is able to eat and is getting along nicely. He is in good spirits and is rejoiced at his speedy recovery from so severe an injury.

—The case of S. Harvey Keith, of Altoona, who took possession of a dog belonging to a resident of McVeytown, was settled the other day in the latter town before Justice of the Peace E. Conrad. The Altoonian paid $10 and the costs, the total running to $21, so that was the price for taking even a dog that happened in the man's path, but did not belong to him. Mr. A. B. Steel of North Spring St. says: "I have never had a bad back since I used Doan's Kidney Pills in 1896 I procured them at that time from F. Potts Green's drug store and used them, but I have never had any occasion to use them since. I was so bad with lumbago or soreness across my kidneys that I had to play off work, I was hurt at a barn raising some years ago by a heavy timber swinging and striking me in the back. After that whenever I took cold it always affected my kidneys. This was the case for years but Doan's Kidney Pills finished all that suffering. I can speak as highly of this valuable preparation now as I did then."

REVOLVER WOUNDS.

More Dangerous, For Many Reasons, Than Those of the Rifle.

Wounds in civil life differ from those in military life in the greater after danger of septic involvement. Revolver cartridges are more liable than are rifle cartridges to have been handled frequently, to have been carried in dirty pockets and to have come in contact with various forms of infectious materials that may prove of serious consequence when buried in the tissues. Moreover, revolver cartridges are covered with a coating of grease, and this encourages an accumulation of manifold microbic material, some of which may prove to be of virulently infectious nature.

Rifle bullets are practically always sterilized by the intense heat developed by the powder at the moment of their discharge. Their rapid progress through the air while in a heated condition still further serves to cleanse them of any extraneous material that may chance to have accumulated on their surfaces. This cleansing process is very effectually begun by the rifling of the rifle barrel through which the bullet forces its way.

All these favorable factors are lacking in the case of the revolver bullet, and so it is possible that in any given case such a bullet may carry infectious material with it into the tissues. If this were in small amount, nature might effectually wall it off and no serious consequences result. On the other hand, such infectious material might lie seemingly dormant for days, but really slowly gathering strength by multiplication, and when its toxins were elaborated in sufficient amount they might paralyze protective chemotaxis and produce a septic condition.—New York Medical News.

A Large Covey.

Two old hunters were swapping yarns and had got to quail.

"Why," said one, "I remember a year when quail were so thick that you could get eight or ten at a shot with a rifle."

The other one sighed.

"What's the matter?" said the first.

"I was thinking of my quail hunts. I had a fine black horse that I rode everywhere, and one day out hunting quail I saw a big covey on a low branch of a tree. I threw the bridle rein over the end of the limb and took a shot.

"Several birds fell and the rest flew away.

"Well, sir, there were so many quail on that limb that when they flew off it sprang back into place and hanged my horse!"—Los Angeles Times.

Turned the Tables.

A lecturer was once descanting on the superiority of nature over art when an irreverent listener in the audience fired that old question at him:

"How would you look, sir, without your wig?"

"Young man," instantly replied the lecturer, pointing his finger at him, "you have furnished me an apt illustration for my argument. My baldness can be traced to the artificial habits of our modern civilization, while the wig I am wearing"—here he raised his voice till the windows shook—"is made of natural hair!"

The audience testified its appreciation of the point by loud applause, and the speaker was not interrupted again.

He Was Plucky.

Salladasburg, Nov, 5.—Prentiss Clark resides in a lumber camp about seven miles from this place. Saturday, while getting ready to go hunting, he set his gun stock down on the ground. The weapon was discharged, severely wounding the man's right hand. He hitched his horse as best he could with his left hand and drove to this place. He was in a very weak condition when he arrived from loss of blood. Two physicians dressed the hand, and if complications do not develope he will recovery.

—The growing business of the Moshannon National bank has made it necessary to install a Burraugh's registering accountant, one of the most wonderful mechanical inventions of the age, by which it is possible to add, subtract and multiply columns of figures yards long, with unfailing exactness, and with a speed that knocks the old time expert out on the first round. It is operated very much as a type writer, and the plain, clear figures, must be a welcome relief to all the bank workers. It comes high—$375—but up-to-date banks must have this wonderful bit of mechanism. Philipsburg Ledger.

Captain Gambell has been appointed a second lieutenant in the Porto Rican provisional regiment of infantry by President Roosevelt.

SPRINGS IN THE SEA

FRESH WATER STREAMS THAT BURST FROM THE OCEAN'S BED.

The Origin of the Underground Rivers That Have an Outlet Under the Persian Gulf Has Never Been Satisfactorily Explained.

Along the shallow bottom of the ocean, not very far from the land, a number of openings have been discovered in various parts of the world through which water as pure and fresh as that of any bubbling spring mingles with the salt water of the sea. Another remarkable class of fresh water springs is those that sink out of sight or perhaps never come to the surface, but follow hidden channels under the land and under the sea until they finally come to the open air on an island. Both of these types of underground rivers are perhaps most remarkably illustrated near and on Bahrein island, in the Persian gulf, a place that is also noted as one of the chief sources of pearls.

Bahrein island, the largest of the group of islands bearing that name, is about twenty miles off the coast of Arabia in the Persian gulf. As the island has almost no rainfall it is a dead level of sandy desert relieved only by palm groves and patches of vegetation where water springs to the surface from the mysterious underground channels. In many places the water does not reach the surface, but is found by sinking wells, the water being raised to the surface by donkeys and bullocks and poured into the channels from which the date palms and other crops are irrigated. These springs cannot possibly be derived from the island, and it is no more likely that they come from the sandy wastes of neighboring Arabia. The Arabian shore as far as can be seen is low and devoid of water except at El-Katif where similar springs are found.

Arabs say that these streams come straight from the Euphrates river through an underground channel by which the great river, in part, flows beneath the Persian gulf. Geologists, however, have dismissed this theory. Though the origin of the springs has not yet been satisfactorily explained, the most favored theory is that they come from the well watered slopes of the Persian mountains far to the north. If this theory is correct, it means that the rainfall sinks into the earth's crust until it reaches impermeable rock strata along which it is carried for a great distance to the south out under the sea until the rock, sloping upward, again brings the water near the surface on Bahrein island. Some of the wells that are thus supplied are enormous, and one of them, the Adari, serves for the irrigation of many miles of date palms through a canal of ancient construction. The Adari well is one of the great sights of Bahrein, being a deep basin of water 22 by 40 yards in size. The fact that it comes from a far higher source is shown by the force with which it enters the well. Divers, driven back by the strong current, are unable to reach the bottom.

There being no wells within miles of some of the coast towns of Bahrein, they obtain water from springs that issue from the bottom of the gulf not far from the shore. These springs of course have the same origin as the wells. Divers, with goatskins under their arms, dive through the salt water and fill the skins with the cold, fresh liquid at the bottom. The water obtained in this way usually contains a slight admixture of salt water, so that the mixture is just a little brackish. At some of these openings at the sea bottom the head of water entering the sea is so strong that when hollow bamboos are pushed down into it the water rises through the tubes, delivering the fresh water directly into vessels that are held by men and women who are sitting in the boats that brought them from the land. The force of some of the streams as they come from the earth is so considerable that it pushes back the salt water, and the spring is not mixed with the sea water for quite a space around the place of entrance.

It has been practically determined within the past few years that the waters of a small river in West Africa which disappeared in a fresh water swamp that has no visible outlet find their way by an underground channel into the Atlantic and mingle with the sea through an opening in the bottom that has been discovered a few miles from Cape Verde. A channel has been found on the sea floor which, apparently, was cut by some fresh water stream. During some soundings that were made in 1895 for the purpose of finding and raising a broken cable the vessel engaged in the work was surrounded by swamp vegetation that was continually rising to the surface. It was evidently brought through the underground channel from the swamp.

The breaking of a cable off the mouth of the Rovuma river in East Africa has been attributed to the destructive action of a strong current of sweet water entering the sea level several miles from the land. Another remarkable example of a submarine river is found to the north of the city of Arica on the Pacific coast of South America. A river from the Andes that is gradually swallowed up in the sand has been found to make its way invisibly into the sea, with which it unites some miles from the land.—New York Sun.

Brain Weight.

It is stated by an authority that the weight of a man's brain has nothing to do with his mental power. It is a question of climate, not of intellect. The colder the climate, the greater the size of the brain. The largest heads of all are those of the Chugatshes, who live very far north, and next come the heads of the Lapps.

AN OVERWORKED PHRASE.

The Expression "He Took His Life In His Hands."

"The expression 'he took his life in his hands' always struck me as being very foolish," said a bright young gentleman, "and I have often wondered why so many persons persist in using it when they want to speak of extraordinary dangers. Now, extraordinary danger is one thing and the simple, commonplace thing of taking one's own life in one's hands is an entirely different thing.

"I work in a big building. There are a steam engine and a mammoth boiler in the basement. Whenever I enter that building, if they are running the engine in the basement, I take my life in my hands. I get on the elevator on the fifth floor; I take my life in my hands. I go out of town; the car may tumble over a trestle somewhere. I walk along the street; a sign may fall on me. I make my way across the thoroughfare; who knows but what a street car or a vehicle of some sort may not run me down? I cross the river; may I not suddenly find myself in the swirling stream and sinking for the last time? If I walk along the street, may not a brick or a loosened cornice come crashing down upon me? There are a row and a shot or two on the corner; may not a stray bullet wing me? And so on.

"Pessimism? No. Logic. That's all. It just shows the difference between taking one's own life in one's hand and the matter of confronting extraordinary danger. These risks are ordinary, plain, old, everyday risks. The fireman who dashes into a burning building to rescue a child, the fellow who grabs the bridle of a runaway horse, the hero who will plunge into the river to save some person who is about to drown—these are the persons who confront what I would call extraordinary dangers, and the worn platitude of saying of one of these 'he took his life in his hands' would not fit the case because there would be in the act an element of heroism which would place it much above the commonplace."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

HOYT'S JOKE ON M'KEE.

How the Playwright Had a Bit of Fun With His Manager.

On one occasion Manager McKee was watching a performance from a box, where he was seated with some friends.

During the first act an usher came to him with the information that a gentleman was waiting at the door to see him on most important business.

"Tell him I can't come out—I'm very busy," was the answer.

The usher returned in a moment to say that the man insisted on seeing Mr. McKee, who again sent out word that it was impossible to see him.

The man outside then sent in the message that he was an author and had a play that he wished McKee to read immediately.

This incensed the manager, who said to the usher:

"Tell that fool out there that this is no time to bring a play to be read. Get him out of the place—I won't see him. I won't read his play."

A few minutes later the usher came back and informed McKee that the man utterly refused to go without seeing him, and that he must be granted an interview, also that he was quite sure that the manager would not only read his play, but he would also produce it, and added that he would bet $1,000 that Hoyt & McKee would be only too glad to get the play.

At that McKee became furiously angry, and, excusing himself to his party, left the box with the intention of personally inviting the persistent author to begone.

"Where's that idiot who insists on seeing me?" he asked of the treasurer at the box office. Then the treasurer pointed to a man standing in the shadow with a roll of manuscript under his arm.

It was Hoyt, with his newly finished play, which he handed to McKee, who said to those present:

"It's on me—what'll you have, boys?"—New York Clipper.

Odors That Permeate Foodstuffs.

A fish dealer in one of the most stylish parts of New York was deeply hurt and badly worried one day by the complaint of one of his big customers that a fine salmon which he had sent to the house for a big dinner had proved to be entirely uneatable when served owing to a most penetrating taste of creosote that pervaded it. The fish dealer realized, although the charge was not made directly, that he was more than suspected of having sold a stale fish that had been washed or brushed with an antiseptic preparation to hide its condition. He knew that the salmon had been perfectly fresh when he sold it, and for days he puzzled in vain over the problem. But suddenly he remembered that on the day the fish was sent out a tank wagon full of creosote had stopped before his place and that his cart, into which the fish was being placed, was directly alongside of the powerful stuff. That appears to have been enough to permeate the delicate flesh of the fish.—New York Press.

Woos Morpheus With Picture.

"I have found a cure," said a physician, "for a person who isn't chronically afflicted with insomnia, but who temporarily cannot sleep. It is a curious thing that the picture of a person yawning will almost invariably induce sleep.

"Try it yourself some time if you come across such a photograph. For the life of you you can't help yawning, after a moment, and persistent gazing at the sleepy head will almost inevitably send you to the couch for a nap."—New York Times.

DANGEROUS FISHES.

THEY ARE NOT ALL CONFINED TO THE SEAS THAT ARE SALTY.

The Alligator Gar Is One Fresh Water Species That Is Feared In the South—A Mysterious Monster That Inhabits a Michigan Lake.

So far as any danger from the game is concerned, fresh water fishing has always been looked upon as about as safe as any sport in the world, and the fresh water fish has gone on record as harmless and nonresistant. But there are instances now and then when the fish turns the tables. The inhabitants of Osceola county, Mich., who live in the neighborhood of Lake George, an inland water about three miles long, are almost superstitiously afraid of a certain fish that inhabits that lake. No one knows what sort of fish it is, and opinion locally is divided as to whether it is a giant muskellunge or a sturgeon.

Spearing parties had now and then reported seeing a very large fish without being able to strike it, but no one gave credence to the tales until one night several years ago, when a party of sportsmen from Chicago went on the lake spearing in charge of an old resident named Armstrong.

Armstrong was the only one that returned to tell the story. He said the party was spearing in shallow water when they saw an enormous fish that resembled an overgrown pickerel. Two of the Chicago men were standing in the bow, and at first supposed the fish to be a log. Then one saw his mistake and struck with all his might. The fish gave a dart that made the boat jump as though a steam engine were pulling it. If the man had let go of the spear, all would have been well, but he hung on, and the fish gave a mighty flop to right angles with the boat. The man still held to the spear, with the result that the boat capsized, and the men found themselves standing in mud and water up to their waists.

The light went out when the boat upset, and, the night being dark and cloudy, not one of the party had any idea of the direction to be pursued in reaching shore. The shallow water occupies a large part of the lake, and they could wander in any direction without being able to tell whether or not they were nearing shore. Armstrong said afterward that nothing could equal the awfulness of the experience that followed. They made their way in one direction after another and wandered round and round, going half way to their knees in mud at every step.

To make matters worse a cold, steady, drizzling rain began to fall. They were soon numb to the marrow. Then one of the sportsmen dropped without a word, and no one went to his help. Little by little the three that remained were separated. Armstrong says he himself became unconscious after a time and remembers nothing that happened until he was roused by feeling solid ground beneath his feet and finding that the water was more shallow than it had been. He kept on and fell upon the shore. Then on hands and knees he crawled to camp and gave the alarm. Search was at once made for his companions, and their bodies were recovered. Since that time the big fish with a scar on his back has twice or thrice been seen by spearing parties, but they have passed it by.

There is one species of fish in the south that is feared only little less than its salt water contemporary the shark. This is the alligator gar. It grows to enormous size and has a bill hard and bony and much broader than the bill of the common gar of northern waters. One who goes out upon the lakes of Louisiana and Arkansas will see them jumping and splashing like enormous trout. Their usual food consists of fish, and they not only make endless trouble for those who go fishing with minnows, but have been known to round up and tear to pieces bass which the sportsman has hooked. Bathing in the lakes is considered dangerous.

A negro was sitting in the stern of a boat on a lake near Helena, Ark., letting his feet hang over the stern, when a gar grabbed him by one leg. The man hung to the boat until rescued, but his leg was horribly gashed. The fish have been known to attack in like manner negroes who went swimming in the Mississippi below New Orleans. One spring the writer was visiting a rice plantation on the "lower coast" of the Mississippi when an old negress came wailing to the house and said her five-year-old boy was dead. He had been playing at the edge of a bayou and was lying on the bank extending his arms into the water when a gar came with a rush and, grabbing the youngster by the arm, pulled him into the water. A young negro with a shotgun was standing near watching for ricebirds. He ran to the bank. The fish found it had undertaken a bigger task than it could well manage, and a wild struggle was in progress between the gar and the dying child. The negro shot the fish, but the child died before it could be taken from the water.—New York Times.

The Right of Defense.

In the course of a trial an English judge is reported to have said: "The laws of God and man both give the party an opportunity to make his defense, if he has any. I remember to have heard it observed by a very learned man upon such an occasion that even God himself did not pass sentence upon Adam before he was called upon to make his defense. 'Adam,' says God, 'where art thou? Hast thou eaten of the tree whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat?' And the same question was put to Eve also."

ONE MAN'S LUCK.

Steered Into a Junior Partnership by a Chance Gust of Wind.

"Speaking of taking in partners," said a downtown business man, "our junior was, you might say, blown in on us, and I saw him started in our direction, though I had no idea of it at the time.

"Going down town one summer morning on a Ninth avenue elevated train I saw sitting opposite to me a young man who caught my fancy, a substantial, earnest, straightforward looking chap, whose looks I liked first rate. He was reading a paper, and presently he tore off from his paper an advertisement leaf that he didn't want and threw it out of a window or tried to, for as a matter of fact it didn't go out. A gust of wind with just the right twist to it came along at just that moment and blew the paper back, to fall on a vacant seat next to him.

"And as it fell something in it caught his eye, and he picked up that part which he had just been trying to throw away and began earnestly to read it and ended up by folding it carefully and putting it in his pocket.

"About four minutes after I'd got in here that morning this same young man walks in and applies for a place that we had been waiting for somebody to fill. Our advertisement for a man for it was in that paper which I had seen this young man try to throw away, and which a gust of wind, by one chance in a million or more, had blown back upon him and in such a manner as to fix his attention.

"As a matter of fact I hadn't liked the young man's act of throwing the paper out of an elevated car window. A paper floating down and around as that would do might frighten horses and lead to no end of trouble and lots of damage, but no one man thinks about everything, and he'd learn better about this, I knew, and so as a matter of fact I took this young man on the spot on my first impressions of him. He far more than made good and in due course of time he came into his junior partnership, literally and truly blown into it.

"Sort o' queer, eh?"—New York Sun.

A CORDIAL RECEPTION.

The Book Agent Got One That Wasn't Intended For Him.

There is a farmer living just north of Evanston and a book agent somewhere in the cosmopolitan desert of Chicago each of whom feels that he is a victim of a cruel circumstance.

Last week the farmer had a note from a nephew to say that the boy would visit the farm on Thursday. Uncle and nephew had not met for fifteen years, and the old man drove to the station in his most uncomfortable coat that he might welcome his sister's child. But the young man failed to arrive. After waiting till the last passenger had disappeared the old man drove away, disappointed.

The book agent entered into the dramatis personæ early the next morning. Looking over the top rail of the barnyard gate, he called, "Hello, uncle!"

The book agent never got such a reception before in all his life. The farmer flung the gate wide open, seized the agent's hand and pressed a whiskered kiss on the ironclad cheek.

"Say, this must be heaven," murmured the agent, following the farmer into the house and explaining that everybody at home was as well as could be expected. Not till the agent was full of a boiled dinner and attempted to sell a book did the farmer begin to see a dim light. Charged with impersonating the missing nephew, the agent explained that he greeted all elderly strangers as "uncle;" that he even had a few almost real ones in South Clark street in Chicago.

When last seen by the farmer, the agent was still running, and when the real nephew does come he may find an electric current in the latchstring.—Chicago Tribune.

The Best Man.

For the origin of "the best man at a wedding" we must go back many centuries, to days when it was the amiable practice of the budding bridegroom to dispense with the consent either of the lady or her father. He simply waited for a suitable opportunity to capture her and make a bolt with his bride. In this enterprise he found it helpful to have the services of a friend who would assist him in the capture and keep the pursuers at bay until he had got a sufficiently long start. This friend was the prototype of the "best man" of our own unromantic day, when his duties are limited to seeing that the bridegroom doesn't leave the ring behind him or leave the church without taking his hat with him. How times do change!

Mostly Fortissimo.

Hunt—It seems strange to me to hear you criticise your wife's reflections as harangues, in view of the fact that in the earlier days of your married life you spoke of your wife's voice as the very soul of music.

The Only One Eligible.

Papa—So, Bobby, you're the president of your bicycle club. That's very nice. How did they happen to choose you?

Bobby—Well, you see, papa, I'm the only boy that's got a bicycle.—Tit-Bits.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE VOLUNTEER EVIDENCE THAT DISPELS DOUBT.

The columns of this paper are day by day publishing fresh evidence from people which establishes more fully the great reputation of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The manner in which they take hold of the run down and debilitated is so prompt, strength and energy is so quickly picked up by their use, evidence is plentiful.

C. L. Scheid, of No. 118 E. Church St., Lock Haven, Pa., says: "I was feeling run down and poorly last fall as the result of a hard summer's work. I did not rest well and bothered a good deal with dull headaches. I got a box of A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and though I used less than one box I felt they did me a great deal of good, toning up and invigorating me. I can recommend them."

By calling at Krumrine's drug store information can be obtained regarding this great success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and how they were first introduced by proof of their merit.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

A PITIFUL SIGHT TO BEHOLD.

Fifteen Year Old Charles Packer Lies Suffering in His Mountain Home.

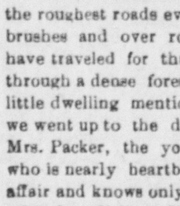
Situated in Green's Valley, between Nittany and Brush mountains, lives an humble farmer by the name of Richard Packer. His home is a very plain frame structure with two rooms on the first floor and two on the second. His family is composed of his wife and seven children, the oldest a boy of 15 years of age who is suffering from a gunshot wound accidentally received. He is a bright, manly little fellow, with light curly hair and blue eyes. To get to Mr. Packer's home away off there in the mountains is a dangerous undertaking, but a reporter on this paper, with a good guide, reached the place shortly before dark on Tuesday evening. From Bellefonte you go to the watering trough on Nittany mountain and take the first road to the left and go in through Green's Valley over one of the roughest roads ever traveled, through brushes and over rocks, and when you have traveled for three miles and a half through a dense forest you come to this little dwelling mentioned above. When we went up to the door we were met by Mrs. Packer, the young man's mother, who is nearly heartbroken over the sad affair and knows only too well her son's critical condition. She escorted us into a small room, ten by twelve, where lay this young fellow on a little hard bed suffering pain that is almost unbearable. It was certainly a sad sight to sit and watch him suffer as he does.

He told the whole story of the affair from the beginning. He said: "Father had a car to load with lumber at the Pleasant Gap station and my little brother and myself went with him to help do the work. We finished the job about 4 o'clock and started for home to do the evening's work. On our way we passed the home of Mr. Henry Knoffsinger, who was repairing his gun. We boys stopped to watch him a few minutes. He was inside the door and I was standing outside about two feet from the end of the barrel of the gun when, all at once, it exploded and I said, 'Oh, I am shot,' and started for my home. Mr. Knoffsinger lives about one mile and a half from our place and I walked and crawled the whole way. I knew I had been seriously hurt, but he said it was only a scratch. I was nearly played out and when I got to my father's gate I fainted away from the loss of blood. Mr. Knoffsinger went to town and on his way he met my father and said to him, 'I come near shooting your boy; I didn't know my gun was loaded and while I was repairing it it exploded and the bullet just grazed his stomach.' Father hurried home and found I was really shot and started immediately for Dr. Fisher, who lives nine miles from here. He was not at home but as soon as he heard of my accident he came to my assistance. He examined me and found I was shot in the abdomen and that the bullet took a downward course through my intestines, struck the hip bone and lodged there, and I think from the pain I have in that portion of my body that the bullet is working its way out." The lad said in finishing his story, "I don't blame anyone, I only hope I may get well."

The hole in the boy's stomach where the bullet entered is half an inch wide and four inches around. It is swollen and inflamed and every bit of food the boy eats passes out of this opening. He suffers excruciating pain and although Dr. Fisher is doing everything in his power for him something else should be done. He should be sent to a hospital where a good nurse and doctor could attend him constantly.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.



Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Hicks–Rich.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Rich, daughter of the late Judge Benjamin Rich, to Mr. Charles Hicks, of Williamsport, was celebrated at the home of the bride in Unionville on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. The affair was very simple and unpretentious because of recent bereavements in the bride's family.

Mr. John Rich, a brother of the bride, was the best man and Miss Alice Henchey was the maid, while dear little Margie McDonald bore the flowers that will strew their path through life. Rev. Scott of the Presbyterian church was the officiating clergyman.

Immediately after the ceremony a supper was served and Mr. and Mrs. Hicks departed on the night train for Buffalo and points in Canada. Upon their return they will reside in Williamsport, where the groom is engaged in the manufacture of furniture.

Miller–Young.

A very pretty wedding was publicly celebrated in the United Brethren church last evening at 7:30 the contracting parties being Mr. Samuel Miller Jr., of Coleville, and Miss Minnie Young, of Bellefonte. The best man was Mr. Samuel Rice and the brides maid was Miss Elizabeth Miller. Mrs. John Waite played the wedding march and Rev. T. W. Perks, pastor of the church performed the ceremony.

WILL HOLD A CONFERENCE

Representives of the United Mine Workers at Huntingdon, W. Va.

HOPE TO ORGANIZE STATE UNIONS

Will Endeavor to Do This in Virginia and West Virginia So That a Scale of Prices for Labor May be Agreed Upon.

SOME OPERATORS OBJECT TO THIS

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 31.—A number of representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and different state organizations are here to-night for a conference to-morrow with both the organized and the unorganized miners of West Virginia and Virginia. A similar conference was held at Parkersburg last month, and on the report of the conferees at the time President Mitchell has called the meeting for tomorrow to devise plans by which the miners in these two states can be organized into state unions and made auxiliary to the United Mine Workers of America, the same as in other coal-producing states. The officers from the Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, and other coal-producing states are here to co-operate with President Mitchell, Vice President Lewis, Secretary-Treasurer Wilson and other national officers in a final effort to organize the miners of West Virginia and Virginia. While the call for the meeting to-morrow includes the miners of Virginia, it is understood that the main efforts at the present conference will be directed toward the mines of West Virginia first and then the organization will be extended to the Old Dominion. The output of West Virginia has become so enormous as to seriously conflict with other states, especially with Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, where there is very little difference in the haul. It is said that the operators in other states claim they cannot pay the union scale in competition with the lower rate of the non-union mines in West Virginia and the conference will appeal to the Virginia miners for the protection of the union mines in other states. The operators of West Virginia are also represented here and are appealing to their men against interference from labor leaders in other states.

President Mitchell, Secretary Wilson Vice President Lewis, W. R. Farley, of the executive board of the United Mine Workers; "Mother" Jones and others were in conference to-night.

The first session will be held at 10 o'clock to-morrow and the meetings may continue the remainder of the week.

The convention will propose a uniform scale of wages on a basis equal with that of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania and other competitive fields. West Virginia has never had even a formulated scale. Several attempts have been made to effect a scale but always without success, and some of those present are doubtful as to the success of the present conference in that respect.

An Afflicted Family.

The family of Percy Blackford, of South Allegheny street, are certainly sorely afflicted and deserve the sympathy of the community. Mr. Blackford had received lucrative employment at his trade as a plasterer at Clearfield, Pa., and was in that town making preparations to move his family there when he received word to return home at once, that his wife was seriously ill with diphtheria.

On reaching home he had his children sent to another house and prepared to nurse his wife back to health and strength. In a day or so his little boy and girl were taken with the same malady and are in a serious condition. It is indeed a sad case.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggists of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by F. Potts Green Druggist.

Live Stock Burned.

Joseph Williams' barn in Pleasant Valley, near Rosecrans, was destroyed by fire Monday night. All the season's crops, a horse, a cow, several fattening hogs, wagon, buggy and harness were also burned. The flames spread so rapidly that nothing could be done to save the stock. The origin of the flames is unknown. The loss is $600; partially covered by insurance.

Have You Eczema?

Have you any skin disease or eruptions? Are you subject to chafing or scalding? Dr. Agnew's-Ointment prevents any and all of these and cures itching, bleeding and blind piles besides. One application brings relief in ten minutes and cases cured in three to six nights. 25 cents.—36

Out of Plumb.

When the wall is out of plumb the building is more or less unsafe, and the higher the wall is carried out of the perpendicular the greater the danger of collapse. It's about so with the health; it is out of plumb when the digestion is impaired, when there is a dull, sluggish feeling, with nervousness, irritability and sleeplessness. Every day that these symptoms are neglected increases the liability to physical collapse.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood and cures nervousness, irritability and sleeplessness by curing the diseases in which they originate.

"For three years I suffered untold agony," writes Mrs. H. R. White, of Stanstead, Stanstead Co., Quebec. "I would have spells of trembling and being sick at my stomach, pain in right side all the time; then it would work up into my stomach and—such distress it is impossible to describe. I wrote to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, stating my case to them, and they very promptly answered and told me what to do. I took eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and five vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Thanks to Dr. Pierce and his medicine I am a well woman to-day. Dr. Pierce's medicines also cured my mother of liver complaint from which she has been a sufferer for fifteen years. We highly recommend these medicines to all suffering people."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Keller–Mayes.

Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock quite a stylish wedding took place at the pleasant and hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keller, at Houserville. It was the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lucy Margaret Keller, to Mr. Frank Mayes, of Lemont, Pa.

The parlor where the ceremony took place was elaborately decorated with palms, ferns, smilax and flowers of many varieties. Promptly at 4 o'clock the wedding march, as played by Miss Ruth Bottorf, announced that all was ready and in a few minutes the bridal party entered the parlor.

The bride was attired in fine French organdy and carried a shower bouquet. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Gray, of Woolrich, Pa., who wore a gown of white Paris muslin and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink and white carnations. H. Houtz Long acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception took place, followed by an elaborate wedding dinner in the dining room, which also had been handsomely decorated for the occasion. The occasion was one of complete enjoyment to all present.

The bride received many handsome and costly presents in cut glass, silver, furniture, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Mayes left that evening for Bellefonte, where they boarded the train for Williamsport, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, after which they will return to Lemont, where they will make their future home.

The groom, for a number of years past has been a member of the well known firm of J. B. Mayes & Sons, granite and marble dealers, Lemont, Pa.

A Sad Accident.

The sad news of the sudden death of Rev. Daniel Frantz and wife of Fairview, Kan., reached us Monday. They attended the Reformed sessions at Orangeville, Ill., and afterward went to Dakota, thence to Cedarville to visit a friend. He and his wife, his brother Adam and wife, and his mother had driven there in a carriage and stopped at the porch. Two gentlemen were felling a tree a short distance from the house. This fell on the carriage and instantly killed the Reverend and wife, who were in front. The others were injured but not fatally. Rev. Frantz is well known here and in Sugar valley and his death is a great shock to his many friends.—Millheim Journal.

Death of Mrs. Susan Stover.

THREE DAYS OF GRACE.

France Will Make Naval Demonstration Against Turkey.

SQUADRON UNDER SEALED ORDERS

Sultan Has Until Sunday to Make Up His Mind as to what Is Best for Him to Do Concerning Demands Made long Ago.

WHAT PARISIAN NEWSPAPERS SAY

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The officials of the French foreign office confirm the report that a division of the French-Mediterranean fleet has proceeded from Toulon to the Levant to make a naval demonstration against Turkey.

A foreign office official, in communicating the foregoing to the correspondent of the Associated Press here, said:

"The squadron sailed with sealed orders, and proceeds first to a Greek port, the island of Syra, I think, where the admiral will receive definite instructions as to carrying out his sealed orders. I am not at liberty to say what the sealed orders are, but the seizure of the customs at Smyrna would probably be a very effective way of convincing the sultan that France's patience is exhausted, and that we have decided to enforce an immediate execution of the Turkish government's engagements. We however, are very hopeful that the sultan will not compel us to go to that extreme.

Our squadron will not reach the Greek port before Sunday. The Turkish government thus has three days' grace, and we trust, in the meantime, to receive complete satisfaction. We have acted very considerately toward Turkey, hoping up to the last moment, that she would carry out her engagements, and it is only now, when we find that there is no serious indication of her doing so, that we have reluctantly resolved to put stronger pressure to bear in the shape of a naval demonstration. It is now two months since the French ambassador, M. Constans, left Constantinople. His departure failed to produce the desired effect. On the contrary, even the quays and Lubini questions which were settled by the sultan's irade, remain unsatisfied."

The decision to make a naval demonstration against Turkey was taken at a meeting of the cabinet, Tuesday, at which M. Delcasse, the minister of foreign affairs, explained the sultan's procrastination regarding the French demands.

Admiral Caillard's squadron consists of six cruisers. The crews aggregate 2,286 men, but the vessels will also carry landing parties,

The newspapers approve the government's decision. The Journal Des Debates says:

"Everyone at Constantinople and the other capitals must be aware that France and Russia are completely in accord on this matter. Under these circumstances it is difficult to believe that the Ottoman government will not come to its senses and, recognizing its error before it is too late, relieve us of the necessity of using other means than those of diplomacy and courteous decision."

La Liberte remarks that the fact that Admiral Gaillard has embarked 2,000 marines is a warning to the porte that France will not stop before a slight show of resistance, but will go on to the end even though war should ensue.

Items of Interest.

Hereafter visitors at the Kansas State penitentiary will be charged 10 cents each. The sum goes toward paying the extra guard made necessary by the visitors.

A Canadian paper records the marriage of a girl of 18 to a man of 95 who was formerly engaged to her great-grandmother, the engagement being broken off.

Beaumont, Tex., claims the highest telegraph poles in the world. They are Western Union "sticks" rising 150 feet from the ground on either side of the Neches river.

The origin of the compass is uncertain, but Italian newspapers are endeavoring to prove that the six hundredth anniversary of its discovery should be celebrated in 1902.

The Electrical Review notes that as a protection against the ravages of white ants living trees instead of poles are used in stringing the wires of the Cairo to the Cape telegraph line in Africa.

Only a few years ago the business most despised in New York was perhaps that of the sandwich board man. Now it has achieved the dignity of a union whose members are as rigid in the enforcement of their rights as the men in any other trade.

Locusts Coming.

An etomologist predicts a plague of the seventeen year old locust next year and will issue a bulletin to the fruit growers and farmers of the state that it will be unwise to put out any young trees this fall or next spring. He describes it as the 22 brood of the periodical cicada, which made its last appearance in 1885 and did much general damage.

—About a year ago J. J. Mishler, of Jennertown, Somerset county, lost a leg by an accident. He is now about eighty years old, but proposes to make the best of the situation and have all the comfort he can during whatever years may yet be allotted to him. He was taken to Pittsburg the other day where an artificial leg will be fitted in place of the one he lost.

Stop the Blight

It is a sad thing to see fine fruit trees spoiled by the blight. You can always tell them from the rest. They never do well afterwards but stay small and sickly.

It is worse to see a blight strike children. Good health is the natural right of children. But some of them don't get their rights. While the rest grow big and strong one stays small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion can stop that blight. There is no reason why such a child should stay small. Scott's Emulsion is a medicine with lots of strength in it—the kind of strength that makes things grow.

Scott's Emulsion makes children grow, makes them eat, makes them sleep, makes them play. Give the weak child a chance. Scott's Emulsion will make it catch up with the rest.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

THE UNION MEETING.

Held in the Lutheran Church Sunday Evening

Sunday was Y. M, C. A. day in Bellefonte and two rousing meetings were held. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock one hundred and fifty young men gathered in the Association Hall to listen to a stirring address delivered by the General Secretary Frank H. Gamel his subject being "The Law of Influence."

In the evening there was a union meeting held in the Lutheran Church which drew a large and interested audience. The meeting was presided over by Prof. James R. Hughes, the President of the Y. M. C. A. There was special singing by the Lutheran choir assisted by the Presbyterian Sunday school orchestra. Dr. H, C. Holloway read the Scripture lesson and there was an earnest prayer by Rev. T. W. Perks. General Beaver gave a short talk in his characteristic style and Secretary Gamel explained the plans for the future success of the work.

The principal address of the evening was made by Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs pastor of one of the leading Methodist churchs of Altoona. He is an eloquent and forceful speaker and his address Sunday evening cannot help but be of great benefit to all who heard it.

The services were brought to a close by the pronouncing of the benediction by Dr. Laurie.

RAN AWAY FROM HOME.

Two Children Cause Worry and Trouble for Foster Parents.

Sunday morning Mrs. Frank Baney, of East High street, dressed up her two little adopted children, Carrie and Lucy McAllister, and started them for the Quaker Sunday school on Pine street. Since then she has not seen the children and where they went to is a mystery. It is believed, however, that owing to some fancied wrong the children took a childish notion into their heads to run away. This theory is borne out by the fact that two children answering their description were seen Sunday afternoon at Unionville going towards Tyrone.

Mrs. Baney says that after sending the children to Sunday school she locked up the house and went for a drive with her husband, placing the key where the children could find it. When she returned the children were not to be found.

Carrie, the oldest of the girls, is 17 and Lucy is 15. They are the children of Mrs. Baney's brother, Toner McAllister, and have made their home with Mrs. Baney for the past year.

Mr. Baney is making every effort to find the children and as they had no money they could not get very far. Their description has been telegraphed to surrounding towns and it is believed they will soon be found.
